DETAILED ACTION

1. The amendment filed November 27, 2007 has been received and entered. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code, not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
2. Claims 2 and 4 have been cancelled in this amendment.
3. Claims 26-28 have been added in this amendment.
4. Claims 1, 3, and 5-28 are pending.
5. In the reply filed on August 15, 2007, applicant elected Group I, now claims 1, 2, 5-15 and 26-28, and green tea for the species.
6. Claims 6, 8, 11-13 and 15-25 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention and species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on August 15, 2007.
7. Claims 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, 10, 14 and 26-28 are examined on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. Claims 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, 10, 14 and 26-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Krotzer (WO 99/61038) in view of Thomas et al. (US Pat. No. 5,972,985) for the reasons set forth in the previous Office action.

All of applicant's arguments regarding this ground of rejection have been fully considered but are not persuasive. Applicant argues that the claimed invention is patentable over the prior art because the claimed invention is able to balance the function of the muscles and mind, act as a relaxant, and counterbalance the effects of adrenalin. Applicant argues that an artisan of ordinary skill would not look to Krotzer to produce a composition with these effects. However, these features are not recited in the rejected claims. Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). In addition, even if these features were recited in the claims, the claimed invention would still be considered properly rejected based on the prior art. This is because a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. As discussed in the previous Office action, there is motivation in the references to combine the claimed ingredients together into a single composition. Thus, the combination of the prior art produces a composition that is structurally the same. Therefore, the prior art product properly renders obvious the claimed product.

In response to applicant's argument that Thomas is nonanalogous art, it has been held that a prior art reference must either be in the field of applicant's endeavor or, if not, then be reasonably pertinent to the particular problem with which the applicant was concerned, in order to be relied upon as a basis for rejection of the claimed invention. See In re Oetiker, 977 F.2d 1443, 24 USPQ2d 1443 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, Thomas is directed to nutritional supplements that contain ingredients that overlap with applicant's claimed ingredients. Therefore, Thomas is considered analogous art because it is in the same field of endeavor as applicant's as evidenced by this overlap in subject matter.

9. No claims are allowed.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
